XPI and CPA World Services Separation/Distinction Q&A - Jes-CPASB Chair

Jess shared that errors were made when structuring CPA in its infancy, blurring the lines between Intergroups and CPA World Service. We now need to make a distinction between Intergroups and determine what parts of CPA they serve. Thus, XPI and CPA World Service are now separating certain tasks, groups, and other areas to ensure they are being served by the appropriate Intergroup, or by CPA World Service. Q&A topics and discussion included:

- ChronAnon as related to XPI and CPA World Service; ChronAnon link on Websites
    - Take to XPI Webmaster, and to CPASB
- The speed at which XPI was presented with this change
    - CPA World Service has been discussing for 2 years
- Sending an XPI representative to GAC
    - Beware of voting rights bringing on imbalance of power for video meetings
- The need for a CPA Calendar if XPI calendar has covered all meetings
    - CPA World Service is not ready to consider discontinuation of CPA Calendar at this time.
